New Regulation (EU) 2020/1056 on electronic freight transport information has been published

eAWB   eCMR

eFCR   eDG

eFBL

A one-stop shop for harmonised data exchange

The European Commission will develop the technical specifications for eFTI platforms by 2022. Member States will then have 30 months to set up electronic platforms for information exchange. By August 2024, transport operators will be able to submit electronic information using a harmonised format in all EU Member States.

Key to a successful implementation will be the commitment of all Member States and the definition of technical specification tailored to the operators' needs.

As a participant in the EU Digital and Transport and Logistics Forum (DTLF), IRU will work to ensure that eFTI platforms are implemented in a way that is pragmatic for operators.
